

ARTICLES OF INTENSIVE PROBATION

All adjudicated minors are wards of this court who must abide by the following Articles of Intensive Probation these are the standard rules of probation however, your disposition report may contain additional terms or they may be somewhat different than those contained here (for example: you must maintain a B average rather than the C average noted here). If they differ the court order is the rule you must follow:

You must obey all federal and state laws, and all ordinances.

If school is in session and you are not suspended or expelled, you are to be in school every day, on time, unless excused by a parent up to 5 days per trimester or semester. All absences after 5 days will require a doctor's note or verified appointment to excuse an absence- a parent call-in without a verified appointment is not considered a valid excused absence after 5 absences per trimester while on probation. All absences past 5 per trimester/semester will subject you to court sanctions and possible intervention by the school liaison/truancy officer.

You are to attend every class, complete assigned work, including homework, maintain a C average, work to the best of your ability, and control your behavior as well as your language at all times.

If you are suspended or expelled from school at any time you are not to be outside the family home during school hours unless you are with a parent or have permission from your Probation Officer.

You are to attend school and follow all school rules, and your parent, guardian, or custodian must notify the court of any school absences. Suspensions, or violations of school rules, are considered violations of probation and may lead to further court consequences.

Your parents must approve at all times: who you are with, where you are going, when you will be and how you will get home.

You must respect and comply with home rules and directives from your parents, and you must also respect persons of authority outside the home.

You must comply with a search of your person or property and seizure at the direction of your probation officer.

You must obtain court permission to leave Cheboygan County or the State of Michigan.

You and your parents must cooperate in the obtaining of professional services ordered by the court prior to, at or after the disposition hearing. This includes psychological assessments, risk assessments, substance use assessments, psychiatric evaluations, physical examinations and court ordered mediation services.

You must not keep company with any person your parents or the court doesn't approve. This includes any person on probation in the juvenile court or the adult court system.

If you are placed under house arrest with nightly call-in with a parent or guardian, you are only allowed to be out of the home without a parent for school, school activities, counseling, medical appointments or community service. Any other reason must be approved by your probation officer. Once house arrest is over, standard curfew is 8:00 PM on weekdays, and 10:00 PM on weekends. You can be out after curfew if you are employed or on your way home from work. If you are not employed you must be with a parent or responsible adult after curfew.

You must not be in possession of drug paraphernalia, and you must submit to random drug screens either observed or unobserved or PBT's as directed by your probation officer and in the event of a positive drug screen you will be required to complete a substance abuse assessment.

You and your parents must participate in the court's P.O.P. program, an after-hours probation contact at your home. Contacts will be random and at the discretion of your probation officer.

Parents are expected to enforce orders of the court, and the juvenile or parent(s) are expected to inform the court of violations. Parent(s) must pay the ward's court costs when the ward fails to pay, and the parent(s) supervising a ward at the time of his/her offense must pay restitution costs if/ when the minor fails to pay.
